U.S. GRAND JURY STAGE SET FOR MEYERS ACTION

New Senate Inquiry Into 'Wartime Joy Riding' Likely; Mrs. Lamarre Plans Action

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 — Quadruple trouble built up for Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers today as a possible new senate inquiry threatened uneasy moments for "many others" whose idle cash went "joy riding" on wartime government bonds.

The quoted words are those of Senator Tobey (R-NH). He hinted that his senate banking committee may take up where the war investigating committee left off after disclosures which brought denunciations of the retired air force general ranging from "rotten apple" to "snake."

First, however, federal grand juries here and elsewhere were due to hear a review of testimony in which Meyers was accused of holding aircraft stocks and pocketing profits from his own secretly owned subcontracting firm while deputy chief of air force purchasing.

Specifically, Attorney General Clark said the government's objective will be to indict Meyers on charges of war frauds, perjury and income tax evasion.

Possible Court Martial

Still a fourth question also remains to be answered: Whether the two-star officer will be ordered back into uniform to face a court martial.

Meyers' war-time boss, General of the Army H. H. Arnold, revived speculation over a possible military trial just before the war investigating committee's hearings came to an abrupt close Saturday.

The last of a parade of witnesses who accused the dapper Meyers of falsehoods, Arnold declared:

"The penalty for a false official statement is severe—the first basic ground for a court martial."

He was referring to Meyers' answer to an official 1943 questionnaire inquiring whether top purchasing officers held any aviation stocks.

Incorrect Answer

Meyers replied at the time he held none. But a committee investigator testified that the general's account showed he had some $35,000 worth.

While the possibility of a separate investigation into speculative dealings in government bonds was pointed up by the Meyers' hearings, Tobey told a reporter he has had the matter under study for six months.

He said he has no definite plans for hearings but that the banking committee certainly will look into the matter.

Mrs. Lamarre Indicates She'll File Slander Suit

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O., Nov. 24—"I have gone no farther than any other wife goes in an effort to see her husband get ahead with his boss."

With that statement and others, Mrs. Mildred Lamarre, wife of Bleriot H. Lamarre, former president of the Aviation Electric Co. of Dayton, denied today in a copyrighted interview by The Dayton Journal the testimony of Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers given last week before the senate war investigating committee that she was the retired army officer's "girl friend."

Breaking a silence she had maintained since Meyers testified that he had set Lamarre in business as head of Aviation Electric, the comely former Miami (O.) university beauty queen was quoted as saying:

"Both of us went out of our way to be nice to Meyers, but that is all. His statements are all lies."

Court Action Probable

Talking to newsmen in the presence of her husband and Robert C. Knee, Lamarre attorney, she declared: "A suit for slander seems the only answer."

She was quoted further that she didn't become acquainted with the general until she became his secretary at Wright Field in April, 1940, and that she was in his employ one year and two months. She admitted that the Lamarres and Meyers dined together on occasions, times, she said, when the general "did practically all the talking."

However, she asserted, there never was any "impropriety in relations between Meyers and myself." After the general remarried, Mrs. Lamarre said his new wife joined them on social occasions to make a foursome.

Her reaction to radio broadcasts of Meyers' statements Mrs. Lamarre described thusly:

"First you get mad then you cry. There are no words strong

TWO INJURED IN AUTO MISHAPS

Pedestrian and Bicyclist Hurt; Seven Accidents Reported Over Weekend.

A pedestrian and a bicyclist were injured over the weekend as a total of seven traffic accidents were reported to police.

At 7:05 a. m. today Mrs. Pearl Freidel, 57, of 142 Canby Court sustained injury to her right side and leg when knocked to the pavement by a car driven by Joseph W. Klingel, 70, of 368 Windsor street. The accident occurred as Klingel was making a left turn from West Center street onto Oak street. He said he did not see Mrs. Freidel who was crossing east on Oak street until it was too late to avoid striking her, as rain obscured his vision. He took the injured woman to City hospital in his car.

Henry Tillman, 63, of 346 Powhattan street was taken to City hospital shortly after noon Saturday in the Boyd and Uncapher ambulance after being knocked from his bicycle by a car driven by Donna K. Holt, 20, of 539 South Main street. The accident occurred at the West Center street and Kenton Avenue intersection. The Holt car was going west on Center street with the traffic light and the cyclist coming east on Kenton avenue. A bus at the curb near the intersection obscured vision, the driver said. Tillman suffered abrasions over the left eye.

Collide at Intersection

At 11:53 p. m. Friday, cars driven by Carl E. Miley, 23, of near Prospect and Max Andrinic, 19, of 289 Summit street were involved in a collision at the intersection of State and Washington streets with Delaware avenue. The car driven by the former was traveling north on Delaware avenue. The latter car going south attempted a left turn into Washington street. Damage to fenders and front bumpers resulted.

A car driven by Violet Brown, 35, of 651 Fountain street collided with a car driven by Paul Doolittle, 31, of 492 Scranton in a line of traffic waiting on Silver street for the traffic light at the Leader street intersection. The collision knocked the Doolittle car into the car ahead in the line. Slight damage resulted to the three cars involved. The accident occurred at 10 a. m.

Car and Truck Collide

A car driven by Dorothy E. Rutherford, 29, of 635 Cherry street and a milk truck driven by Milton J. Weston, 25, of 475½ South Prospect street, scraped fenders at 10:26 a. m. Sunday in front of 224 Olney avenue. The Rutherford car attempted to pass between the milk truck and a car parked across the street. Damage to fenders of the Rutherford car resulted.

At 4:53 p. m. Sunday cars driven by George J. Miley, 54, of Waldo and Robert A. Olsen, 25, of New Bloomington, collided at the intersection of North Main and Patten streets. Miley who was going west on Patten said he stopped at the intersection but failed to see the Olsen car going north on Main street. Slight damage to both cars resulted.

Calvin Jones of 365 North Greenwood street reported his car parked in front of 598 Ballentine avenue was hit at 10:40 p. m. Sunday by a driver who failed to stop, the car receiving a damaged fender. Driver of the second car was later identified by police as James E. Cofer, 30, of 498 Ballentine avenue. He is being held for leaving the scene of an accident.

68-SECOND QUAKE SHAKES MONTANA

By The Associated Press

HELENA, Mont., Nov. 24—A 68-second earthquake rumbled across Montana yesterday, cracking plaster in two cities, and startling residents of a dozen more.

The quake brought down a main street cafe ceiling in Hamilton, cracked plaster in several Butte homes, and shook buildings in Helena, Harlowton, Malta, Havre, Glasgow, Kalispell and Bozeman.

Neither the state highway patrol nor the Red Cross received reports of injuries or property damages.

Dr. A. J. M. Johnson of Montana State college of Bozeman said the coast and geodetic survey seismograph timed the quake's beginning at 2:45 a. m. The heaviest tremor had a four-second buildup, a four-second maximum and a 60-second tapering off period, Johnson said, classifying the quake's intensity as "very, very moderate."

Professor Stephen W. Nile of the Montana School of Mines faculty in Butte said the quake was the strongest recorded there in the past four years.

The shock also tripped the alarm on the seismograph at Carroll college in Helena for the capital city's 2,877th quake since 1935.

FBI Nabs 50 in Blow At White Slave Ring

By The Associated Press

PORTSMOUTH, O., Nov. 24—FBI agents brought two more prisoners to the Scioto county jail today, raising to 50 the number collected in a crackdown on a white-slave ring that operated in three states.

The new prisoners, a man and a woman, were added to the 15 men and 28 women taken into custody Saturday night at Ironton and who were to appear today before U. S. Commissioner Laurence M. Kimbel. They were arrested at the Ironton railway station last night.

The woman was held as a material witness and FBI agents questioned the man. Interrogation of other prisoners also continued.

The FBI swept into Ironton, a bustling little city of 20,000 located just across the Ohio river from several West Virginia and Kentucky cities, about midnight Saturday.

Almost simultaneously, agents arrested five persons in Ohio, Illinois, Missouri and California, including a man and a woman at Columbus, O.

But the sudden smash was directed primarily at a two-block "call house district" in Ironton known as "The Line" for 60-odd years.

Most of the 48 were detained as material witnesses. Eleven were charged with violation of the white slavery act, although only seven of these will appear in court here today.

The court appearance of those held here as material witnesses was expected to be little more than a formality of assuring the commissioner, by posting bond or otherwise, they will be available to testify later when charges are pressed against the others.

In Arrest List

Those under charges here are Arthur Hall, James William Mills, Ollie Nichols, Elby Paul Brown, Jean Elizabeth Foster, Marjorie Gibson and Emma Nichols, all arrested at Ironton.

William H. Veazey and Irene Wilson, arrested at Columbus, O., Nicholas Dinora, arrested at Benld, Ill., and Joyce Dinora, arrested at St. Louis, also were charged with violating the act forbidding the taking of a woman across a state line for immoral purposes.

At San Francisco, Special Agent Harry M. Kimball said 19-year-old Patricia Morgan was being held on telegraphic instructions from Cincinnati. Washington FBI officials explained she was being detained only as a material witness.

"The Line" Invasion

Striking shortly before midnight Saturday, 66 G-men moved swiftly through nine houses in "The Line" just as that tawdry area began to swing out full blast. Or, as the official FBI report put it, "during the active operation of these houses with women soliciting by sign and otherwise from the windows."

Last night "The Line" was deserted. The houses were locked and street lights provided the only illumination. Blaring juke boxes, which the FBI said decorated many of the lawns, were stilled.

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, said at Washington that the arrests were aimed "at interstate transportation of girl recruits for several houses of prostitution within a two-block area" in Ironton.

The FBI declared the Ironton "call house" long has been the "focal point of prostitution" for communities in three states—Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky.

Taxicabs Kept Busy

"The Line, comprising a two-block area, is reported to have operated for the past 60 years by a succession of procurers," the FBI continued.

"Since the population of Ironton is approximately only 20,000, The Line owes much of its financial success to an active taxicab trade with the larger industrial communities. Taxicabs have frequently been observed bringing passengers to The Line from Paintsville, Ky., 66 miles away; Grayson, Ky., 35 miles away; Olive Hill, Ky., 50 miles away; Huntington, W. Va., 20 miles away, and Morehead, Ky., 65 miles away.

"Industrial plants in Ironton and in Ashland, Ky., two miles away, and in Jackson, O., 35 miles away, also have sizeable employment rolls," the FBI added.

When the agents brought their haul to the million-dollar Scioto county jail here, startled citizens of Portsmouth said it "looked like a parade" as the FBI and its prisoners arrived in a special bus and 25 automobiles.

Registration Day

The rest of the night, and all through the day yesterday, agents registered and questioned their prisoners—two agents to a person. In the crowded women's wing of the jail, blondined girls paced cells, calmly filed fingernails or eagerly sought descriptions of male prisoners as a means of identifying victims of the FBI net.

Most of the girls were sullen, their blondined hair in disarray, their spirits burdened by obvious uncertainly as FBI men fired questions like bullets.

By The Associated Press

DOUBT YOUTH'S TALE HE KILLED COUPLE

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Nov. 24—Despite the fact a 21-year-old Navy veteran signed a statement admitting he killed a prominent Beckley, W. Va., couple, discrepancies between his story and the actual facts of the case were cited today by authorities at Charleston, W. Va.

Lt. Herbert DeCamp of the Cincinnati police department, said James Richardson of Crab Orchard, W. Va., near Beckley, told him he was the slayer of E. Ray Bailey, 50-year-old merchandising executive, and Mrs. Kenneth K. Rand, 39, wife of a prominent Beckley dentist.

Maj. F. C. Crawford of the state police headquarters at Charleston said that while Richardson said he killed the couple with a .32 caliber pistol, it had been definitely established by ballistic tests that .38 caliber slugs killed Bailey and his companion.

Crawford also said the time of the slayings had been fairly well established at about 8 p. m. the night of Nov. 4, instead of the 11 p. m. hour mentioned by Richardson.

Richardson was arrested here yesterday on a reckless driving charge after a minor traffic accident.

Advised of Richardson's statement reported by Cincinnati police, his stepfather, Basil Reid, told the Beckley Post Herald that the youth "often acted strangely" and said he believed a fungus rot which developed in his ears during three years of Navy war service may have affected his mentality.

Sen. Bridges Pictures Probable U. S. Shortage Caused by Aid to Europe.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24—Senator Bridges (R-NH) said today there is a "strong probability" that the administration's plan for emergency aid to Italy, France and Austria will result in a serious food shortage in the United States.

Bridges, chairman of the senate appropriations committee, made that statement as Secretary of Agriculture Anderson testified before the group in support of President Truman's request for $597,000,000 for emergency aid to the three countries.

Congress has been given only a promise that shipments of grain to Europe will be curtailed if next year's grain crops are poor, Bridges said. He added:

"If the state department takes the purchases to the full amount and a bad crop ensues, the American people will be subject not only to rationing but possibly to meager rations."

Anderson acknowledged that "there are some problems" but he testified:

"By acting promptly and adequately we can prevent a great deal of human misery, and by so doing we shall be holding open

BIG FOUR SET FOR OPENING SESSION

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Nov. 24—Approximately 500 aides, secretaries and experts put the finishing touches today to preparations for the big four foreign ministers conference, which convenes here tomorrow for what many observers believe may be a last attempt to reach unified peace settlements with Germany and Austria.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov arrived yesterday by plane and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault—last of the four principal participants in the conference—was expected tonight.

British informants said that Briton's Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin probably would see Molotov and U. S. Secretary of State George Marshall some time during the day. Marshall arrived here Friday.

Soon after Molotov's arrival the Soviet embassy announced his principal aide in the discussions would be Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky, who was expected to depart for London as soon as his duties at the United Nations assembly in New York would permit.

Other leading members of the Soviet delegation include Marshal V. O. Sokolovsky, Russian commander-in-chief in Germany; Georgi N. Zarubin, Russian ambassador to London, and A. S. Smirnov, Soviet representative in the deputy foreign ministers' council discussions on Germany and Austria.

British government sources emphasized the conference would be strictly business and entertainment would be held to a minimum in keeping with the country's austerity regulations.

The same sources said that the opening session tomorrow would be devoted to formalities, with Bevin welcoming the visitors on behalf of his government.

MAXIMUM GAIN IS SIX MILLS

Coliseum Levy Accounts for General Boost; Bond Decline Offsets Extra in Marion.

Marion taxpayers were cheered today with the announcement that the city tax rate for 1947 at $23 per $1,000, shows no increase over 1946, according to County Auditor Harry V. Mounts, who released the list of rates for the county's 52 tax districts as approved by the state tax commission.

The countywide picture is not so bright however, as with the exception of Marion, all political subdivisions are facing tax rate increases ranging from a fraction of a mill to six mills. In no district in the county, the city excluded, was the decline in the amount needed for bond retirement sufficient to offset the addition of the 1 mill agricultural tax levy voted last month for the coliseum.

In Marion, retirement of school bonds and reduction of municipal bonded indebtedness exactly offset the countywide agriculture levy, the auditor said.

A breakdown of the city 23 mill levy shows that 13.02 mills is devoted to school purposes, 8.04 mills to municipal and .14 to township purposes. To this is added the county wide levy of three mills, 2 mills for the general fund and one mill for the special agricultural tax.

Extra Levies Voted

Increased rates in the corporations and the school districts both village and rural throughout the county are noticed as extra mill levies for numerous school districts and bond issues previously voted are going into effect.

The highest rate in the county outside Marion city, is borne by the village of New Bloomington with a 1947 rate of 18.5 mills, an increase of .66 over the 1946 figure of 17.84. Here a four-mill levy for street lighting constitutes the bulk of the tax load.

The highest rate increase will be borne by Caledonia, both corporation and in two of its village school districts, those in Claridon and Marion townships. Here a five mill school levy is largely responsible for a six mill increase boosting the corporation rate from 12 to 18 mills. Also to shoulder a six mill hike are its Claridon and Marion township school districts with new rates of 15 and 14.34 mills respectively.

Tully township local school district (Martel) which voted a three mill increase on top of a two-mill renewal of a school levy wound up with a rate of 18 mills.

Scott township local school district (Kirkpatrick) which renewed a three mill school levy and in addition added three more mills has a 16.7 mill rate as compared to an even 13 mills for 1946.

Other Districts Increase

Others facing substantial increases because of renewed and added school levies are, Montgomery Rural school district in Big Island and Grand townships whose new rate is computed at 17.34 mills against 12 for 1946, and Marion township where the rate jumped from 7.04 to 10.14 mills.

Marion township however has the second lowest rate of the 52 tax districts in the county with the Marlboro rural school district in Waldo township low with 10.1. The Marion township rural school district has a new rate of 11 mills, a 3.1 hike over the 7.9 of 1946.

Seven of the county districts show rates only a mill higher

CHICAGO COVERED BY SNOW BLANKET

By The Associated Press

The heaviest snowstorm of the season was blowing out of the Great Lakes and northern midwestern states today, a forerunner of another cold wave for the area.

The snowfall at Chicago was expected to measure four inches by mid-morning. The weather bureau said, however, that most of the snow came with the temperature hovering around the freezing mark and that it turned to slush as it fell on the warm ground in eastern Iowa, northern Illinois and northern Indiana.

A cold wave "considerably below normal" was moving eastward from the high plains area and was expected to spread over most of the middlewest by morning, the weather bureau said. Temperatures at Chicago were expected to begin dropping this afternoon from a high of 32 degrees and reach a low of around 15 tomorrow.

The midwestern cold blast extended from North Dakota, where Fargo reported 9 below zero today, into the southwest, the weather bureau said.

2 ASHLEY MEN HELD TO MORROW CO. JURY

Bound Over in Robbery of Aged Woman Storekeeper.

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, Nov. 24—Two Ashley men will face the Morrow county grand jury Tuesday in connection with the robbery of a filling station and general store in nearby Westfield late Friday.

Braden Bennett, 38, and Truman Snyder, 50, both of near Ashley were bound over by Mayor Ray Booher in municipal court here Saturday and are held in Morrow county jail in lieu of bond set at $1,500.

Bennett pleaded not guilty to the charge of robbing Mrs. Kitturah Granger, 74, of $347 while she was filling the tank of his car at her combination general store and gas station about 6:30 p. m. Friday. Snyder pleaded not guilty to aiding and abetting the robbery.

The men were picked up by the state highway patrol and Delaware county sheriff's department men shortly after midnight Friday in Delaware heading south on Route 42. Bennett had over $300 in $5 bills on him at the time.

Mrs. Granger who was alone at her establishment at the time of the robbery told police that the men drove into the station and asked for gas and oil. While she was filling the tank, Bennett went into the store. Snyder remained in the car.

After waiting on another customer, she entered the store to find Bennett behind the counter. She said Bennett took her pocketbook containing the $347 from a drawer and started for the door. Although she grabbed him by the collar, Bennett shook her off and got into his car and drove away.

the world's chance to make a just and lasting peace."

In the senate branch of congress, the situation on the President's request is this:

The foreign relations committee has approved legislation to authorize expenditure of up to $597,000,000 on emergency aid. That bill went before the senate today with supporters predicting passage Wednesday.

But before any actual aid is sent, a separate bill must be passed appropriating the money to pay for it. This will have to come from Bridges' committee.

Bridges declared his group will write no "blank check" for such aid "no matter how persuasive the argument in favor of such a foolish procedure."

He said the state department had failed to provide congress with a detailed justification of the request for $597,000,000.

Meantime, the senate banking committee was hearing opposition from banking and automobile interests to a return to consumer credit controls.

Through such controls, which were in force during the war and up until last Nov. 1, the government fixes terms under which a merchant sells goods on credit or installment buying.

Lawbreakers Taught How To Make Good

By The United Press

FORT MADISON, Ia.—The men who have been isolated from society because they broke its laws are putting in time and effort to see that things are different when they are freed to have another go at life outside the walls.

That is the case at Fort Madison Penitentiary, where the demand for vocational work is so great that a waiting list has been made up from which to fill the seats of the 88 inmates now taking vocational courses when they graduate.

The courses include radio servicing, refrigeration and air conditioning, sheet metal drafting, architectural drawing and design, mechanical drafting, sign painting, electric welding and bookkeeping.

Warden Percy A. Lainson said the most noticeable aspect of the school is the intense interest of the student-inmates in their work. Preference is given at the prison to men who will be able to complete the work—mainly two-year courses—just before release. "Long termers" sometimes have to wait.

MANSFIELD BORROWS BUSES AFTER FIRE

By The Associated Press

MANSFIELD, O., Nov. 24—Rapid Transit Co. officials believed they could maintain "practically normal" bus service today despite a $150,000 fire which destroyed half of the city buses and a storage garage yesterday.

H. W. Arnold, company president who estimated the loss, said nine buses were promised from Newark, Sandusky, Marion and Findlay companies to help carry the local transportation load.

Sixteen of the 32 local buses were destroyed—along with two owned by the Lake Shore lines. Arnold said the company needs 14 buses for non-rush hour traffic and seven more during peak hours. The others are "spares."

Lloyd Howell, 39, a mechanic, received minor burns and two spectators, attracted by clouds of smoke billowing over the downtown section, received minor cuts when the front of the building fell.

A spark igniting gasoline in a bus being repaired probably caused the blaze, firemen said.

Sheldon Dodd, secretary of the Marion Rapid Transit Co., said today that the local company sent one of its big 36 passenger buses to Mansfield last night to help out with the early morning rush. He indicated that if necessary several more could be made available.

BROTHERS IN PLANE CRASH

By The Associated Press

CHARDON, O., Nov. 24—A small plane in which two brothers were flying crashed and burned near Harts Corners yesterday, killing Daniel Sabo Jr., 26, of near Painesville. His brother, Edward, 20, suffered a possible pelvis fracture and second degree burns attempting to rescue Daniel, who was piloting the low-flying ship.

SIX CHICAGO PAPERS FACE STRIKE THREAT

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 24—Publishers of the six Chicago daily newspapers who have accused members of the AFL International Typographical Union with recent slowdowns in work during stalemated negotiations were faced today with a strike threat.

Woodruff Randall, International Union president, said the 1,700 ITU members in the six plants voted almost unanimously yesterday to demand a wage increase, effective today, and to ballot tonight on a strike to enforce their demands.

The action was taken, Woodruff said, after he had reported to the union members that negotiations with the publishers had reached a deadlock.

Woodruff said the new wage demand was for a boost from $85.50 a week to $100 for day workers and from $91 to $106 for the afternoon and midnight shifts.

John O'Keefe, secretary of the Publishers association, commenting on the union action, said "the issue is not wages."

"The publishers have at all times expressed their willingness to negotiate wage increases if the union would give assurances of its willingness to incorporate the wage and other terms of employment in a lawful written contract of reasonable duration.

"The issue is the union's 'no contract' policy. The purpose of any strike action is to enforce that policy."

John J. Pilch, president of local 16, said the strike, if authorized, would begin as soon as results of the balloting have been delivered to the various newspaper union chapels. He did not indicate how long that would take.

Be Kind to Postman, Dog Owners Are Told

By The United Press

MILWAUKEE—Dr. R. J. Hinkle, Milwaukee veterinarian, advises dog owners to see that their pets get a proper introduction to the postman and the delivery boy.

That way, Hinkle says, the mailman can avoid any clashes with the dogs along their routes.

"The dog either will show a great liking for the carrier and look forward to his daily visits, or he will want to take his leg off," the veterinarian explains. "In the latter case, the owner is forewarned and can keep his pet leashed when the postman rings."

Wesley Church Marks Fiftieth Anniversary

More than 200 persons attended the fiftieth anniversary celebration and homecoming of Wesley Methodist church Sunday. Dr. Lewis Clinton Wright, president of Baldwin-Wallace college at Berea, gave the sermon at the morning worship hour. A basket dinner was served at noon, and in the afternoon, a service of fellowship was held with messages by former members and pastors read. Here for the day were Rev. H. M. McAdow of Columbus, former pastor, and Mrs. McAdow, and Mrs. D. N. Kelly of near Wapakoneta, widow of a former pastor together with a number of former members from a distance. Letters were read from others who could not be present, and a number of short talks about the church were given. At the close of the afternoon service, a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Yost, members of the church, was baptised by Dr. Edwin A. Brown, pastor, assisted by Rev. McAdow. The child, Kathryn Lou Cooke, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Cooke of Springfield.

NEW CABINET NAMED BY FRENCH PREMIER

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Nov. 24—Premier Robert Schuman announced today the formation of a new coalition cabinet and immediately plunged into the task of dealing with a spreading wave of strikes that threatened the nation with economic disaster.

Already tied up by walkouts were nine out of every 10 railroads in France. All the country's harbors and most of her coal mines were idle, and all grade schools in the capital were closed.

The situation was further complicated by the threat of disturbances arising from a one-franc increase in subway fares in Paris, which went into effect at 6 a. m. today.

To meet the threat several thousand mobile guardsmen were rushed into the city last night and reservists of the 1947 class, who recently were recalled to duty, were assembled in readiness at Fontainebleau, 40 miles south of the capital.

Schuman announced the formation of his new government after 36 hours of negotiating with the leaders of all major political parties except the Communist and Gen. Charles de Gaulle's Rally of the French People (RPF).

The cabinet— France's seventh since her liberation from German domination — is composed of six members of Schuman's Popular Republican Movement (MRP), five members of the Socialist party's radical right wing, three middle-of-the-road radical Socialists and one moderate independent Republican.

Retained as foreign minister in the new government was Georges Bidault, a member of the MRP, who is scheduled to depart for London tonight to participate in the big four ministers conference, which opens there tomorrow.

PROPOSE HIGH CROP ACREAGE

Increase To Be Accompanied by Decline in Livestock and Poultry Production.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24—The government outlined a 1948 farm production pattern today suggesting near-record acreage of crops, but a decline in production of meat and poultry.

Major emphasis was placed on grains in guiding goals announced by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson.

A shortage of grains for livestock feed will make it necessary, the cabinet official said, to cut down on the production of all livestock, products except milk which would be maintained at this year's level.

If the goals are met, farmers will put 9,000,000 (million) acres more to cultivated crops and hay than this year and about 7,500,000 (million) more than the 1942-46 wartime average. This year's planting totaled 347,000,000 acres.

Anderson said high domestic and foreign demands make it necessary for farmers to postpone for at least another year a return to good soil practices needed to give overworked land a rest from its heavy burdens of the past seven years.

"Today, more than ever, United States production is a key factor in world recovery," he said.

"But if this nation is to provide a good share of the food needed so desperately by hungry nations abroad, it will mean an inevitably heavy drain on our already strained soil resources."

The goals recommended reductions in acreage of some crops because of reduced demand. These included tobacco, which has lost valuable foreign markets; peanuts, which was expanded during the war as a source of vegetable oil and dry peas.

Anderson recommended eight per cent fewer eggs than this year, seven per cent fewer chickens, 12 per cent fewer turkeys, six per cent fewer pigs for the spring crop, and an 11 per cent reduction in cattle slaughter.

He estimated the per capita supply of meat at 143 pounds next year compared with 156 this year. The per capita supply averaged 127 pounds in the 1935-39 period.

WANTS VETS TO MAKE BONUS DISTRIBUTION

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 24—Ohio veterans of World War Two (AMVETS) will ask the state sinking fund commission today to use facilities of nationally-chartered Ohio veterans posts to handle the $300,000,000 (million) state bonus.

Frank C. McCaslin, AMVETS state commander, planned to place several other bonus recommendations before the commission, which officially administers the bonus.

McCaslin said the AMVETS executive committee also wants only World War Two veterans to process the bonus; distribution of the bonus with least possible delay; and the attorney general to perform the duties of chief bonus counsel without additional compensation.

Use of local veterans organizations would mean that the distribution and processing of the bonus could be handled without cost of taxpayers, according to McCaslin.

Lions Bazaar Closes With Large Attendance

An estimated 1,000 persons filled the Junior Fair 4-H building at the Marion fairgrounds Saturday night to close the annual three-day charity bazaar sponsored by the Marion Lions club. The affair was considered a huge success by the officers of the club.

The various booths at the bazaar offered games, contests and amusements of all kinds. All funds raised from the bazaar will be used by the club to benefit their civic projects, which include sight conservation and blind work.

The city public school nurse, Miss Inez Kraner, was present each of the three nights to give free eye examinations to persons with the Keystone Telebinocular eye testing device, purchased by the club for use in the city schools.

Device Makes Landings By Private Planes Easier

By The Associated Press

MIDDLETOWN, O., Nov. 24—A gadget to take the "guess work" out of landings by private planes passed its first public demonstration here with flying colors.

Earl Flint of Middletown demonstrated the box-like landing instrument bearing his name with a light plane at Middletown airport yesterday.

He made a dozen landings without missing by more than a few feet a cloth target a yard wide and ten yards long.

Flint explained his invention, a battery-powered device four by three by two inches in size, is attached to the plane's instrument panel.

Toledo in Third Day Of Milk Delivery Cut

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 24—Toledo went into a third day of curtailed milk deliveries today as 125 AFL inside workers at the Ohio Clover Leaf Dairy Co. continued a strike for higher pay.

A spokesman for the Toledo Milk Distributors' association said all seven dairies here shut down as a "protective measure as contracts are negotiated on an organization-wide basis."

Unionists, who are demanding an increase of 25 cents an hour, said the strike followed rejection of a proposed six-cent raise for inside workers.

Hospitals and other institutions were supplied without interference yesterday under a pact agreed to Saturday by both union and company officials.

NEW PRESSURE PUT ON STEEL MARKET

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 24—Chances appear slim that congress will heed President Truman and reimpose controls on iron and steel products, but the proposal has imparted new impetus to demand, the magazine Steel reported today.

"Not only are consumers pressing suppliers with greater vigor for tonnage on order, but in many cases efforts are being redoubled to get new orders on mill books," the trade journal declared.

Steel noted that the industry "definitely is opposed to government allocation for domestic purposes. Producers point out that even in wartime allocation under government mandate was difficult, and experience with limited allocation in peacetime has proved a disappointment.

"Continuation of voluntary cooperation by producers in caring for essential programs, it is believed, will work out more effectively in the long run. Indications last week were that voluntary allocation in meeting essential needs, once they are clearly defined, will be first given a thorough trial."

Steel buyers have met with little success in efforts to protect themselves against possible government controls, the magazine added.

"Mills, hard pressed to meet current demands, have been able to make only a little headway in cutting down order accumulations in the major products, notably sheets, strip, plates and pipe."

The national steelmaking rate dropped one-half point last week to 96.5 per cent of capacity.

Mrs. Ihde Dramatizes "The Robe" by Douglas

A dramatization of the famous book, "The Robe" by Lloyd C. Douglas, was presented by Mrs. Irene M. Ihde of Paterson, N. J., to an audience of about 475 persons at Prospect Street Methodist church Sunday night in the closing service of the Christian Fellowship week services conducted by her this week.

The story of "The Robe" is concerned with the happenings around the time Jesus was crucified on the cross. Between each of the three episodes of the drama, hymns were sung by the congregation. At the close of her presentation, Mrs. Ihde, an outstanding musician, sang "Were You There When They Crucified My Lord," accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Robert Rice, church organist.

The Harding High school a cappella choir, under the direction of L. G. Jones, vocal music supervisor in the city schools presented special music. They sang "Soul Be Still," arranged by Carl Stein, and "A Dream within a Dream," Cross. The prelude, "Reve Angelique," Rubinstein, and the postlude, "Hornpipe from Water Music," Handel, were played by Mrs. Rice.

At the morning service, Mrs. Ihde talked on the subject, "Christ and Peace." As a special vocal number, she sang "The Stranger of Galilee." The choir anthem was "All the Earth Shall Rejoice," and for the offertory, an organ and piano duet was played by Mrs. Rice and Miss Frances Haas. The prelude for the morning service was "Arioso in A," Stults, and the postlude, "Walther's Prize Song," Wagner.

Mrs. Ihde also presided for the Sunday school hour.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Ma Hoskins Sneezed at Cats!

Ma Hoskins couldn't understand why she got a fit of sneezing every time Harpo, the cat, came in the room. Finally figured she'd have to get rid of Harpo altogether.

Then Doc Hollister explained she had an "allergy." Cat's fur made her sneeze like strawberries give some folks rash. He gave her an inoculation so she and Harpo could live sneezelessly together.

I guess a lot of us have "allergies" in the social sense. Some folks just can't stand movies, or radio comedians. Other folks don't go for beer. Myself, I enjoy a moderate glass of beer or two with friends ... but it's up to them what beverage they choose.

From where I sit, the important thing is not to let our social allergies result in antisocial taboos. Let's not criticize the fellow who likes beer if we like cider. A little inoculation of tolerance can help us live-and-let-live happily together.

St. Mary Church Is Filled As Bishop Makes Canonical Visit

St. Mary Catholic church was filled to capacity yesterday afternoon when Bishop Michael J. Ready, head of the diocese of Columbus administered the sacrament of confirmation to a class of 35 children and adults. At this time also he made his canonical visitation to the parish. A pontifical low mass was celebrated by Bishop Ready at 9 a. m. at which time he extended greetings.

Those to be confirmed and their sponsors occupied the main part of the church, the remaining pews and the choir loft were filled and a large number of persons stood during the nearly two-hour services which closed with solemn benediction. Gold vases on the center altar and those at either side in the sanctuary held bouquets of white flowers and greenery.

The pastor, Very Rev. William J. Spickerman, V. F., welcomed the bishop, and also accompanied him on his official visitation.

"Christ established the church in order for us to save our souls, to understand His truths and finally obtain Heaven," Bishop Ready said speaking particularly to the children. "The parish church," he continued, "is the center of our Catholic life and the example we receive here—how we should be good and prayerful Christians, has an influence on our lives; what we receive here and in our schools help make us perfect, loyal Catholics."

Questions Children

Going down into the aisle Bishop Ready questioned the children on the articles of their faith and asked for their own interpretation on their catechetical knowledge. He reminded them that there are boys and girls of their own age being persecuted for their religion in lands where Christian teachings are prohibited and called on them to be always loyal to their Catholic teaching.

"You have done a very significant thing," Bishop Ready said in addressing the sponsors. The children will see in you men and women who love Christ, who know the mass, and profess the teaching of His holy church."

In his closing remarks Bishop Ready paid high tribute to the work of the pastor, Sisters of Charity who are in charge of the parochial school and the parishioners for their devotion and work as reflected in the parish.

At the pontifical mass Bishop Ready explained the purpose of his canonical visitation and also asked the cooperation of the parish in the drive for food for the war-ravaged people which gets under way in all parishes of the diocese today. People are suffering, particularly the children, and unless they are helped the effect of starvation will be felt in many generations to come.

New Convent Needed

In his talk Bishop Ready placed before the congregation the need of a new convent and expressed the wish that plans would get under way immediately for this improvement. Any other building or improvements will not be made until the present convent is replaced with a more adequate building, he stated. Reminding the parishioners of the deprivations and hardships endured by the founders of the parish in establishing the church in the community, "you now," he said, "have the burden of carrying on the work of your faith."

Assist As Deacons

Serving as deacons of honor for Bishop Ready during confirmation were the Very Rev. Wenceslas Hertvik, O. M. C. of Carey and Rev. W. J. O'Brian of Delaware. Rev. Roland T. Winel of Columbus was master of ceremonies and Rev. Elmer Boyden, assistant pastor at St. Mary church here, was assistant master of ceremonies.

Serving as descon and sub-deason for the bishop who was the celebrant for solemn benediction were Rev. Felix Cleary of LaRue and Rev. W. J. McEwan of Delaware, and Rev. Spickerman served as expositor. The solemn service closed with congregational singing. Hymns during the mass and for confirmation were sung by St. Mary choir.

Taking part in the processions throughout the day were servers, church wardens, visiting clergy and the Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus. Serving as minor ministers to the bishop throughout the day were Thomas Wagner, Dan Smith, Richard Schuler, Robert Stuber, Paul Bray, James Moloney, Patrick Bray, John Murphy and James Stahl.

Assisting in the sanctuary during confirmation and benediction were Rev. Winel, secretary to Bishop Ready, Rt. Rev. Monsignor Rupert Goebel, Very Rev. Hertvik, Rev. Benedict Rubeck, O. M. C., of the faculty of Our Lady of Carey at Carey, Rev. O'Brian and Rev. McEwan of Delaware, Rev. W. J. Killoran of Galion, Rev. Cleary, Rev. Spickerman and Rev. Boyden.

(Hap) Arnold, wartime chief of the air force, listens to a question during his appearance as a witness before senate investigator inquiry into Maj. Gen. Bennett E. 5,100 Homes Visited In Religious Census

A report to date of the religious census of Marion, being taken by Kiwanis club, showed 5,100 homes visited with complete records made. Approximately 150 workers have compited their lists of about 30 families each, Dr. G. C. Nuetzel, chairman of the church committee of Kiwanis club, said today. Duplicate cards have been prepared where more than one family is represented in one home, and workers are calling back at homes where members were absent when first calls were made, it was stated. Tabulation of census cards will be completed as soon as other workers finish their work of canvassing their designated areas, Dr. Neutzel said. The work of tabulation is to be done by a committee of members of Kiwanis club and their wives and the result turned over to pastors of the various churches of the city named by families by designation of church membership or church preference.

Prognosis: Poor

THE Big Four ministers' conference opens Tuesday in London, with Secretary Marshall's expression of hopefulness not borne out by the appearance of things. Marshal Sokolovsky probably set the tone for the Russian approach by his intemperate blasts at Saturday's session of the Allied control council in Berlin.

The conference's decision, or more probably its failure to reach a decision, will determine the course of Germany for the foreseeable future. Germany will continue divided, while Russia which has brought 242,000 square miles of Europe into its sphere of influence, will continue to accuse the western powers of expansionist tactics. If the conference fails, the high hopes of united effort first expressed in the Atlantic charter will have gone for naught, the international affairs will have to be conducted on the principle that the day isn't yet at hand when men of good will can unite for a better world.

The tone of Secretary Marshall's Chicago speech last week indicates our days of retreat and appeasement are ended. But there is no need to jump into a war of nerves by answering insult and villification in kind. If this conference fails, one of our tasks will be to see that our case is presented to the world honestly and truthfully and without exchanges of polemical broadsides with Russia's oratorical Howitzers.

Afterthought on a Great Event

OBSERVERS seem to agree that Britons liked the respite from shabbiness, austerity and their shabby postwar materialism afforded by the bright pageantry of a royal wedding. It took older people back to an almost forgotten day when pomp and circumstance were in the daily routine. It gave younger ones a glimpse of something cheerful and normal in public affairs, for a change.

Perhaps the Russians can get away with it, perhaps even the British, but most other people need more from life than zeal, austerity, discipline and a ceaseless forced draft of terrible urgency. They crave more than subsistence rations and a calorie intake high enough to satisfy statisticians. They need to know that human beings are more than work animals and numbered units in a system of production. They want adventure, a sense of participation in great affairs, a little laughter, a great deal of hope. The materialistic concept of human affairs, which puts all emphasis on production, conditions of work and vital statistics leaves much to be desired in practice.

Many Americans are unable to understand why Britons bear the cost of the crown. The wedding of Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip suggests an answer. The crown has give the British for many generations something to look to besides the changing versions of collective sacrifice preached to them by whatever crowd of politicians happened to be riding herd at the moment.

WAA Director Resigns

RESIGNATION of Robert M. Littlejohn as war assets administration director relieves this former Army general of a job that has been one of the biggest headaches in the government. He had to see that billions of dollars worth of surplus war supplies were moved as rapidly as possible. Now that the task is nearing its end, Gen. Littlejohn steps out with the commendation of the President for a job well done.

Whether the director did a good job is a matter of opinion, as is whether anyone else could have done better. The WAA has been an agency in which most mistakes were spotted after they had been made—and it made some dandies. The instances of balled-up bookkeeping and deterioration of improperly-stored supplies were so numerous that congressional committee gave up in bewilderment. The usual explanation was that $2,000-a-year employes had to be assigned to do $7,000-a-year jobs.

If any fault attaches to Gen. Littlejohn, it could be that he seemed unable to stand by any decisions on assignment of key employes. For instance, the Chicago WAA has had eight directors since it was established in 1946. An office where a boss "opens his mail with his hat on" isn't a place where efficient work is done.

The Yolk's on Us

THE government is looking for a place to unload 61,000,000 pounds of frozen eggs it has bought in its price-support program. They are shelled eggs, yolks and whites mixed. Housewives won't buy them; bakers and confectioners have bid on them but their offers were too low. The government has agreed not to undersell the processors who froze the eggs.

This is a situation that calls for realism. If a domestic buyer can't be found, the eggs ought to be disposed of abroad—given away if necessary. Frozen eggs won't keep indefinitely and if these go the way of last summer's kerosene-soaked surplus potatoes, it will be another severe indictment of a curious arrangements whereby foods are allowed to spoil in an era of high prices and near-famine.

The United States produces about 200,000,000 pounds of vegetable seed annually that are used for crop plantings throughout the world.

Drafting the Issues for 1948

By Raymond Moley

Taft Proves Ability To Debate High Party Policy.

THE economic aspects of the Truman recommendations have been fully discussed in the press and by Senator Taft and others. The issues are now before congress and the people of the country. There remain the broad political aspects of this forceful beginning of the Presidential campaign of 1948. For President Truman's message and Senator Taft's reply are just that. In British terms, we have heard the King's speech and the opposition's reply. The fight is on.

MOLEY

A wise Democrat, closely identified with the high command of the party, said privately last week that the 1948 election would be decided before this Christmas. The statement of issues has now been drawn.

President Truman is a political realist. He knows he has no chance for re-election unless he brings out big majorities in the big cities in big states. It will not be enough to hold the Roosevelt vote in the country and small towns. That was not enough to elect Roosevelt, and the situation is not likely to change much next year. It is not enough barely to carry the big cities. Chicago, New York, Los Angeles, Detroit, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Jersey City and other cities must turn in thumping majorities for Truman or he will lose. Such majorities must come from an appeal which goes to millions of pocketbooks and stomachs and which calls up an emotional response.

To elicit this response, the President has chosen the program most favored by union leaders—especially those of the CIO—by the various New Deal committees and by those in the Administration who are the relics of the Roosevelt days of peace and war. The response to the message on the part of those who favor regimentation makes this clear. Whether the President was speaking his deepest convictions is doubtful. In his conduct and utterances, President Truman has shown a leaning away from a controlled economy. Basically, he thinks in terms of a free economy, but his political inheritance requires another choice.

Politics Involved

No doubt, the President would be astonished and embarrassed if the Republican congress should suddenly accept all of his recommendations. For his program was offered not to be accepted but rejected, and thus to draw a campaign issue next year between what might have been and what is.

Internal Republican politics is also affected by the Truman-Taft debate. Taft's reply was a highly important achievement. The senator had only a few hours to answer a message which had been in preparation for weeks. He proved that, without long research, ghost writers or a cabinet of advisers, he is able to debate high policy with the President before a listening country. It is probable that no other candidate for the nomination could do what Taft did on Monday night.

In Taft's Favor

That raises a consideration which should be heavily stressed by Taft supporters in their efforts to get delegates. They can present their man as a candidate who could carry the debate to its ultimate end in November. Taft is, in parliamentary terms, the leader of the opposition. And he is a leader of capacity and courage.

Whether political calculation will agree that Taft is the ideal candidate is not certain. Parties in their conventions have often veered toward candidates who had made no enemies and had taken no positions on controversial issues. That was the case with Hughes in 1916. That may be true in 1948. But a big risk is involved in such a choice, because three months of campaigning is a long time, and generalities will be pretty stale by late October.

Just a Minute

By Jack Tarver

A Cover Girl For the Police Gazette

Police have arrested a Chicago gun-girl who changed into sweaters of different colors between holdups in an effort to escape detection.

Presumably, it never occurred to her she could be identified, not by her cardigan's color but contour.

Incidentally, arresting officers testified she was in bad company but good form.

There is a very good chance, in fact, that she will be named Miss Police Lineup of 1947 . . . or maybe even Public pineup Number One, her picture gracing the bulletin board of every postoffice in the nation even though she's no longer at large.

There have been some fabulous figures in the history of crime, but never one that would attract so much attention.

Come to think of it, maybe that's why she chose a sweater as a costume for her holdups. With the right kind of figure, she wouldn't have to bother with wearing a mask.

High Stakes in London

By Walter Lippmann

AS THE foreign ministers meet in London, the chances of agreement are obviously poor. The stakes are, nevertheless, high. For the worse the prospects of four-power agreement at this conference, the more important to see to it that on the issues which cause the disagreement we have taken and are able to hold positions that are favorable for the future. We must not let the failure of the conference—which some among us look forward to with impatience and morbid satisfaction—mean also a diplomatic failure for the United States.

LIPPMANN

For if this conference must fail to reach, or even to come close to agreement on, a German and an Austrian treaty, it will still be of the highest consequence whether Mr. Marshall or Mr. Molotov has had the diplomatic initiative, has identified himself with proposals that express the needs and aspirations of Europe as a whole, is the sponsor of the restoration of the European community and not of its permanent division, has taken positions which signify the will to persist until peace is at long last achieved.

It is quite reckless and irresponsible to think that it would be vain and time-wasting to Mr. Marshall to make every conceivable effort to demonstrate our desire for agreement, our interest in a constructive settlement for Europe, our willingness to compromise on secondary matters, our determination to persist, no matter how long it takes, in the search for a settlement and peace.

For if the conference must fail, Mr. Marshall must try to emerge from it, having secured for this country, as against Russia, a position of greater influence in the troubled days that lie ahead.

The impatient people who foresee failure, and want it as quickly as possible, are acting as if they know how to solve the German problem in western Germany and to rehabilitate western Europe under the Marshall plan by making deeper and more permanent the division between east and west.

Cost Would Be Enormous

They are most fearfully mistaken. The financial costs and the economic and political difficulties will be enormous if, after a failure at London, we commit ourselves to guaranteeing the political and economic future of a western German government.

Before we do anything of that sort, there ought to be a searching re-examination of the estimates on which are based the conclusion that the western zones can become self-supporting and can play the role assigned to them in the Marshall plan. The calculations on which they rest have not, I think, been published. It would be useful if they were published so that Congress and qualified students of the subject could see how wishful is the thinking on which is based the fashionable conclusion that western Germany can be made approximately self-supporting by 1952, especially if relations with eastern Germany and eastern Europe deteriorate still more.

The estimates call for raising the exports of the British-American zone from 277 million dollars this year to over two billions by 1952. In other words, the exports of the two zones are to be multiplied more than seven times in five years. On the other hand, imports, which are now running at 1.5 billions a year, are to rise only to 2.3 billions, or only about half. Maybe this can be done. But it is certainly a big order—to expect this region, which is deficient in food and raw materials, to receive only a small increase of imports while it produces a gigantic increase of exports.

Matter Guessing

And when we ask where these exports are to go, we have to fall back on a highly theoretical estimate of what these zones exported and imported before the war—in the year 1936. It takes some tall guessing to figure out the share of the two artificially disconnected zones.

But the figures, for what they are worth, show that in 1936, for the British and American zones, and for our two sectors of Berlin (1), 30% of the commodities exported and imported were to and from eastern Germany and eastern Europe. Thus nearly one-third of the trade of this theoretically self-supporting western Germany would have to be with the Russian orbit — even if all comes out as favorably as the theoretical estimates assume.

The German problem is an enormously difficult problem. There are no short cuts through it. There are no cheap and easy solutions, born of impatience and the wish to do something whether or not it can possibly work, which looks dramatic and decisive.

For Careful Scrutiny

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Wednesday, Nov. 24, 1937.

A business recession was described by Henry Ford as "not a setback but a pause before another climb." Two things, he said, helped to bring it on, one the uncertainty of business regarding political interference and the other the stock market fluctuations.

More than 150 couples attended a Thanksgiving Eve dance held by the Junior Chamber of Commerce at Schwinger's hall. Arrangements were in charge of Bovie Morgan, president, John Schwinger, Marion McKeever, Claude Fields and Jack Carr.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cottrell of Harpster were given a surprise dinner at Hotel Marion in honor of their golden wedding anniversary.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bond of Girard avenue.

George Lane, winner of the Prince of Peace declamation contest at Epworth M. E. church, and Mary Jane Stauffer, one of the contestants, gave their declamations at the Thanksgiving assembly of Thomas A. Edison Junior High school.

Claude Conroy and Stanley Owens of Delaware were guests at a meeting of Marion Post No. 3313, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Thursday, Nov. 24, 1927.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Cluff entertained at a family dinner in their home north of Marion.

Miss Ruth Schrader and William T. Bland, both of Marion, were united in marriage at Epworth M. E. parsonage by Dr. B. L. George.

Misses LeDema Dawson and Helen March entertained with a surprise farewell party at the home of Miss Dawson on Belmont street for Miss Eva Stumbo of Caledonia, who was to leave the following Monday for Florida.

The Richwood High school football team closed the 1927 season with a 12 to 0 victory over Raymond High school. Eleven seniors played their final game with Richwood. They were Capt. Hunt and players Cramer, Reece, Cushman, Clevenger, Webster, Bumgardner, Williams, Randall, Gwynn and Wood.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Beery of Park boulevard.

Price Battle in Round Two

By Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

ROUND two of the price battle is now getting under way on Capitol Hill. The battle can be expected to rage with intermittent fury at least until November, 1948. It is thus worth knowing something of the history of the battle's first round, which was fought out quietly and dispassionately within the administration itself.

In part, perhaps, because President Truman, with his newly acquired sense of sureness, made it clear that nothing of the sort would be tolerated, there was no table-thumping row, no publice washing of dirty linen.

ALSOP

Yet the internal differences of opinion in the administration on the price issue were none the less exceedingly sharp.

One group of the President's advisers, who might be called for convenience the halfwayites, believed that measures short of price control and rationing would do the job they believed that credit, allocations, export, and other controls would suffice to keep prices in line, and moreover, that only by proposing such halfway measures could the administration avoid an all-out, eye-gouging, shiv-sticking political free-for-all at this time of crisis. The leaders of the halfwayites were, not unexpectedly, Secretary of Agriculture Clinton Anderson and Treasury Secretary John Snyder. They were generally supported by Commerce Secretary Averell Harriman and Presidential Adviser John Steelman.

Another group—call them the wholehoggers — argued cogently that half measures would almost certainly fail, and that selective price controls and rationing were absolutely essential if a really disastrous inflation, particularly in food prices, was to be avoided. Chief protagonists of the wholehoggers were Clark Clifford, the able White House counsel, and Under Secretary of the Interior Oscar Chapman, substituting for Interior Secretary Julius Krug, who was ill.

The wholehoggers were backed by most of the government economists, including Dr. Edwin Nourse's Council of Economic Advisers; the Council's vice chairman, Dr. Leon Keyserling, was particularly persuasive. Postmaster General Robert Hannegan also inclined to the wholehoggers' position. The Democratic National Committee bigwigs, Senator Howard McGrath and Gael Sullivan, were known to favor going the whole way, although on this occasion the President did not ask their views.

Wheat Belt Support

The wholehoggers received their most effective, if sinister, support from the winter wheat belt, where the long dry spell was clearly bringing the nightmare of five dollar wheat and a spring meat famine daily closer to grim reality. The wholehoggers argued that sharply increased food prices in the winter and spring would make big new wage demands wholly inevitable. This in turn might set off an inflationary spiral which would threaten the American foreign policy and the domestic economy with disaster.

Less than a week before his Monday message to the special session of Congress, the President had still not fully decided between the positions of the halfwayites and the wholehoggers. His mind was made up towards the middle of the week, however, when he conducted a sort of poll among a number of his advisers. He asked them whether measures short of price control and rationing could be expected to do the job of holding prices in line with a reasonable assurance of success. By a large majority, the answer was no. Then the President plumped unconditionally for the wholehoggers.

Others Unpersuaded

He announced his decision at the Friday cabinet meeting, where it was met with a marked lack of enthusiasm from the Snyder-Anderson camp. For the halfwayites remained wholly unpersuaded. They made their last stand at a White Hous meeting on Sunday, the day before the President was to deliver his message to Congress. But the Presidential mind was made up. The next day he tossed his bombshell into the laps of the Congressional Republicans, who reacted with startled fury. The fat was in the fire.

It is interesting that at one point, before the President had decided to go the whole hog, a compromise suggestion was offered by the former OPA executives, James Brownlee, Henry Hart and Richard Fields, whom Commerce Secretary Harriman had invited to Washington to give their views. They proposed that the President ask for the rationing of meat only, a suggestion which such moderate Republicans as Senator Ralph Flanders and Raymond Baldwin had already advanced. They urged further that the President should not ask for the immediate imposition of price controls. Rather, he should propose a non-partisan investigating body which would get at the facts behind the price situation. Since so much of the price control administration is a matter of getting information this body could immediately form the nucleus of a price control agency if the price situation threatened to get out of hand. Thus if real economic ca-

Fish Eggs To You

By Truman Twill

Caviar, the subject of today's column ab matters of no importance, is all mixed up in t writer's thinking with shattered dreams of super-abundant life for the American pro tariat, hands across the sea, Dumbarton Oa the San Francisco Treaty and virgin sturged in the Caspian Sea.

This melange of confusion has been set whirling by a pamphlet from the foremo handlers of caviar in the United States. T pamphlet contains recipes for using caviar a was prepared on the ridiculous assumption t Russian fish eggs will cease to be an exotic a prohibitively costly delicacy and become a sta commodity, furnished in large quantities by friendly neighbor.

The Russians have a corner on caviar, n through any initiative on their part but becau the rivers and lakes in the United States a Europe where sturgeon used to abound ha been fished out or polluted by uncontrolled e ploitation. That is incidental, but it was to come the only compelling reason that ever exi ed, as far as this citizen of the brave ne world was concerned, for hoping somethi might be done about the apparently irrecon able enmity between the counter-revolutioni in the Kremlin and the revolutionists la ly removed from Bunker Hill, Boston Co mons and Valley Forge in Washington, D. C. be blunt about it, we wanted sturgeon eggs fr contented Caspian Sea sturgeon at a price could afford.

The dream has been shattered. Caviar is scarce it exists in this country only as a gr film on limp bits of toast and crackers scatter thinly over canape trays at cocktail parties. Local banks reported today they were prepared to begin mailing the checks the first week in December. The funds represent Christmas club savings during the past year.

Total accounts in the three banks, National City, Fahey and Marion County, are $15,000 higher than last year when $185,000 in checks were mailed to 3,100 Christmas club members. Some 200 more Christmas club accounts were opened in 1947 than in the previous year the records show.

Checks will put additional funds in the purses of Marion Christmas shoppers for the coming season. In addition to observing the regular Friday night custom of keeping open until 9 p. m. it is tentatively planned to keep stores open until 9 on Monday and Tuesday nights, Dec. 22 and 23, and the regular closing hour of 5:30 p. m. to be observed on Wednesday, Christmas Eve.

Doing the Family Wash in the Basement Is As Out-of-Date As a 1929 Lady's Dress

Forget Blue Mondays! Take all of the hard work out of doing the family wash. It is fun with a Westinghouse Laundrymat. Ask the hundreds of your friends who own one.

Toss a load of clothes into your Westinghouse then go about washing dishes - go down shopping and come back in half an hour or in five hours - you don't have to check a Westinghouse. It takes care of all details with never a worry on your part.

Come back when you please and find the clothes as clean and as fresh as brand new. Smaller pieces are all ready for the ironing board - washed, rinsed better than you could do it and dried better than you could do it by hand or with a wringer. And your hands have never touched the water.

No more mangled hands or fingers caught in dangerous wringers. No more risking your life running up and down stairs. Your Westinghouse will do the job better and with less water than you use in an old fashioned washing machine. And there is not a chance in the world for children to get hurt with a Westinghouse.

Get your wife, your mother out of the cellar. Get her a Westinghouse Laundromat and put it right in the Kitchen where it belongs. Where it is handy—where it will save hours and hours of hard work and where it will save broken bones.

Get HER a Westinghouse for Christmas and watch her smile.

The Westinghouse is guaranteed for five years. Try one in your own home at our risk. The whole family will love it.

WOULD LET GOV'T BUY WHEAT CROP

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24—Broad allocation powers under which the government could buy the nation's entire wheat crop were proposed to congress today by administration officials outlining specific points of President Truman's cost of living program.

Carl C. Harrington of the agriculture department's production and marketing division told the senate-house economic committee that even if this and other measures are undertaken, Americans will have 10 pounds less meat to eat in 1948 than this year and it will cost them more.

This will be true, he said, because less grain has been fed to livestock due to high wheat and corn prices and exports abroad and because demand will push meat prices upward.

A small wheat crop could produce "an emergency situation," Farrington declared in his prepared testimony To cope with that problem, he added, the President should have powers "to make it possible for the government to become the sole buyers of the crop in a manner similar to that which was used during the war with respect to soybeans, peanuts and wool."

F. Marion Rhodes, of the department's production and marketing administration, urged continuation of export controls for two years beyond next Feb. 29

Rhodes said too that while the agriculture department is not directly concerned, it believes allocation powers should be extended to cover such products as petroleum, coal, steel, lumber, fibers, chemicals and some manufactured equipment.

Special music preceding the play and between the first two acts was by the school orchestra, directed by George Lane. During the intermission between the second and third acts, a piano solo, "Impromptu," was presented by Dean Drake, a member of the sophomore class.

The plot of the play revolved around the senior dance with Jane and Sally dateless and with only 11 days to find dates. Matters are further complicated with the arrival of two good looking out of town girls.

When the elephant lies down it extends the hind legs backward and the front legs forward—all other large quadrupeds bring the hind legs forward to lie down.

Capital Capers

By Frederick Othman

WASHINGTON

I'm in a quandary about my announced program to plant my farm in potatoes and allow Clinton Anderson, the secretary of agriculture, to pay me for not growing 'em up.

Uncle Sam's bought so many potatoes already—nearly 100,000,000 bushels—the last two years—that the price has soared high enough to please everybody except the city consumers who pay for same by the pound and through the nose. Prices called off his potato price spree until the price goes down again. That doesn't look so good for Farmer Othman, wholesale producer of souffle in the making. I may have to wait the durn thing out. This is getting tough, I understand, and it will take

OTHMAN

Maurice L. Hartung, my Levering, Mich., correspondent and ex-potato grower, gave me the idea after talking to do business with Clinton, in with a friendly warning that shatters my spudsy dreams. Fellow potato growers, listen to Maurice:

"Uncle Sam does—and makes you do—things the hard way," he reports. "You better apply first for a potato allotment. Then Clint's boys will consult the law of averages, the weather bureau, crop statistics, and your own records to establish your potato history. They will determine how many bugs will invade how many potato fields this year. This will bring you to about a week before planting time. You get your allotment, which says if you plant one hill too many Uncle Sam will not be responsible for any losses. So let us pretend that you are a brave man and plant your potatoes.

"COMES A NOTICE about the middle of September saying that on Sept. 15 there will be a potato meeting with your county AAA committee. So you go to the meeting to be enlightened and you come away confused. Only more so. They spring on you the fact that to be eligible for support price you must pay—cash on the line tonight—one cent per hundredweight of all the potatoes you are going to dig later. It is 10 o'clock in the evening and you haven't consulted the potatoes you are going to dig.

"So you consult all the figures that the government consulted and like the government you come up with the wrong answer. This is on account of the law of averages, which is bughouse for any special year and is no good to anybody but a politician. So you guess you will dig 100 bags of 100 pounds for each acre. This sounds reasonable, provided it does not freeze before Oct. 5. On the average, it doesn't. But as I said, phooey! This time it freezes about Sept. 20.

"So you only get a few hundred bushels and leave about 3,000,000 undersized potatoes in the ground. What potatoes you've got you put in the bin and you suddenly need money. You apply for the government loan on an application blank that is about 25 times as long as necessary and says enclose one-half cent per bag for inspection. Later on—much later—an inspector comes and takes innumerable measurements of the bin.

"STILL LATER you get a letter saying you must offer to the government at least one-fifth of your crop. So you offer it and then you get a letter saying there is no market for the present and to hold them a while. By now maybe your potatoes have rotted enough to make four per cent of them spoil. You can then apply for orders to dump them. Of course you have to pay to get them inspected again."

This, according to correspondent Hartung, is only the beginning. The potato deal gets horribler and horribler. "You know it sounds ridiculous," he says, "but is so near the truth that it is just plain pathetic. Good luck to you and your potato patch. You can have the whole damn thing. I'm through. Yours in sorrow, Maurice."

Gosh . . . Maybe I better raise goats to butt the inspectors off the place and buy my potatoes in town.

Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

THE U. S. army's next chief of staff is what the men in the ranks call a "quiet operator."

Omar Nelson Bradley also wears the flawless armor of a good man—an incorrigible honesty that will let no consideration stand between him and the goal of duty.

His appointment to succeed his wartime boss, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, in the Army's key post, will be nowhere more popular than among the men who fought under him and dubbed him "the Doughboy's General."

BOYLE

No commander was more thoughtful of the welfare of his troops than this lean, six-foot, 54-year-old Missourian.

He showed this again when he accepted the touchy job of setting up the new post-war veterans administration, to which 17,000,000 ex-servicemen turned for help.

"I don't think there's any job in the country I'd sooner not have," General Bradley frankly told the Overseas Press club here once, "nor any job in the world I'd like to do better."

The general set up his aid-to-veterans program without fuss, feathers or political fanfare. He made as good a record as an administrator as he had as a field commander overseas—and there was none better.

But he always considered it only as an emergency task, an interim assignment until he could return to his professional Army duties.

When he becomes chief of staff on the retirement of Eisenhower next February, he will reach the high point of 36 years of military service.

The son of a school teacher and himself a former West Point mathematics instructor, Bradley is fitted by temperament and inclination for the task of welding a modernized American Army. As commandant at the infantry training center at Fort Benning, he personally trained thousands of the young Doughboy leaders who served under him in Africa and Europe.

Bradley is modest, friendly and deceptively mild. He has a cool intelligence and a forthright simplicity of character confounding to devious men who make the mistake of thinking he can be imposed upon or fooled.

He has a flexible mind wide open to new ideas and new weapons—when they work. If the American Army ever has to fight a third world war under Bradley, it won't ride to battle in outdated tanks.

Nor is the Army likely to succumb to the ostentation and dry rot that afflicts all military machines in peacetime, when the young officer who gets ahead fastest may be the one whose wife merely gets along best with the colonel's lady.

Officers around Bradley who don't pull their oar are quietly dropped down a deep dark well, and nobody even hears the splash.

He has a lifelong theory—perhaps instilled when he played baseball at West Point—that military success is largely a matter of teamwork. He had a reputation in wartime of having a "happy headquarters," close-knit and quick-functioning because the men get along with each other.

"I think it is better to weed out a man of erratic brilliance and send him elsewhere," he told me once, "if he can't fit himself into your headquarters and make himself part of the team."

In Plain Words

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

IF YOU want a dim view of the world and what's happening in it, take a look at London.

The foreign ministers of the United States, Russia, Britain and France meet there tomorrow to talk about peace treaties for Germany and Austria.

About the best comment you can hear on the conference before it starts is something like "well, maybe some good will come of it."

But nobody's betting on even that much.

The war has been over two years and this is the second time in 1947 that the four foreign ministers have met to talk about Germany and Austria.

MARLOW

The four ministers — Marshall for the U. S., Bevin for Britain, Bidault for France and Molotov for Russia—met in Moscow in March.

They got nowhere. So now they're trying again. No one was very hopeful for that Moscow meeting. There seems to be less hope for this one.

Since the war ended a big gap has separated Russia from the United States, Britain and France.

But since the Moscow meeting the gap has been made even wider and this is why:

The U. S. has started work on the Marshall plan to help western European nations get on their feet and to keep them out of the grip of Communism.

The Russians are bent on wrecking the plan. They've denounced it as a U. S. attempt to dominate the world and make Europe a forty-ninth state.

To help wreck it, the Communists of Russia and eight other European countries have set up an organization they call the "Cominform."

IT LINED UP THE Communists in those countries to work for the spread of Communism and fight U. S. policies in Europe.

If you think all this gloomy, take a look at something else:

When four foreign ministers meet they ought to be able to get down to business right away and start work on the big problems.

What about all the little details? They can send their assistants or deputies ahead to clear them out of the way so the big stuff can start.

In this case the four ministers weeks ago sent their deputies to clear up the details.

The deputies met for weeks and broke up Saturday. What did they get done? Nothing. The meeting was a farce.

They lined up just as the ministers have lined up before: The Russians on one side, the Americans, British and French on the other.

If the four ministers could ever reach some general agreement on the future of Germany, they wouldn't have much trouble setting on Austria.

Germany now is divided into four zones: American, British, Russian, French.

EACH NATION RUNS its own zone and has its own troops in its zone as an Army of occupation. So there's no German government, and no unity.

For business purposes, the American and British zones work together. The Russians and French run their zones their own way.

But Germany is in bad shape. It's been depending upon outside help. But so long as Germany is like this, all Europe feels the effect.

So here are just a couple of the problems on reaching a peace agreement for Germany:

1. The Russians want $10,000,000,000 (ten billion dollars) in war damages from Germany. They want it from what Germany produces, not in money.

The U. S. thinks that might badly delay Germany's getting back on its feet. Maybe Russia could get paid off a bit by taking German plants.

But wouldn't that, too, delay Germany's recovery. Might be. So that's up in the air.

2. Germany can't start operating as a nation again until it has a government. But what kind of government.

RUSSIA SEEMS TO Want a strong central German government. (If the Russians could sway such a government, it would line up Germany as a Russian ally.)

The American and British favor a union of German states with a weaker central government and a lot of power in the states.

The French, remembering what a strong government has done to France in three wars in a row, shudder at the idea of a strong Germany.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

FAITH drew her eyebrows together, and her small face took on a tensely meditative look.

"I'll have to think that over," she said with an impressiveness that would have become a UN delegate. "If I hear the nice surprise first, it will be kind of spoiled for me after I hear the bad surprise. But, if I hear the bad one first, the nice one will make me forget all about the first one—I hope, I hope."

Her voice had trailed off on the dubious note, but she rallied almost instantly.

"I'll take the bad one first, please, Mummy," she said, and Katharine, her father and I beamed at her fatuously.

"That's the stuff, Faith," Dicky said. "Stick to that, and you won't have any trouble with life."

"The bad surprise isn't very bad, Faith. I told her anxiously. "It's only that Mummy has to go away this evening, and I won't be back until tomorrow evening, probably after you are asleep."

Her small face lengthened dolefully.

"That is a bad s'prise," she said. "The other one will have to be awful good to make up for your going away so long. I don't like that one little bit."

Then her expression changed to one of complacent sapience.

"I s'pose," she said, "that it's one of your 'hush, hush' trips for Granddad."

If we had not been unusually poised people, impervious to startling surprises, I think all three of us would have "jumped out of our skins" at this bombshell.

I looked pleadingly at Dicky, but he shook his head, and his lips formed the words: "this is your fish, old dear," although no sound came from his direction. But I was conscious of wetting my own lips as I voiced my reply to my small daughter.

"What do you mean by 'hush hush' trips for Grandad?" I countered, not accusingly, but as if I really desired information.

"Oh, just like the other things that go on at the farm sometimes, folks coming up out of nowhere, and disappearing again, as if there were a magic cave somewhere around. At first, I used to try and try and see if I could find that cave, then the boys told me I was all wet, there wasn't any, and that if I tried to find it any more, I probably would get the living daylights whaled out of me for my cu-ri-os-i-ty. Don't you think that I can say that word all right, Mums?"

She patently took the cave at about the same valuation as she did her correct pronunciation of the word, and the value of the direful predicition Junior and Roderick had given to her. My breath of relief was so sharp that it almost choked me, and it took me at least three seconds to get my voice into shape to answer her with just the right degree of casual indifference.

"You said that word perfectly, Faith," I said, "but do you know the meaning of 'hush, hush'?"

"Oh, sure thing," she said nonchalantly. "It means stuff you mustn't talk about, mustn't even think about, the boys said when I asked them. You see I'd heard folks say it,"—her limpid eyes held no hint that she knew she had been eavesdropping—"so I wanted to find out. But after the boys ex-plained it to me, and made me take a Scout honor, hope to die and my bones be burned if I ever spoke of it to anybody but the fambly, I didn't talk about it anymore. I'm sorry I said anything now, but—you're all fambly, aren't you?"

Faith is usually so correct of speech, considering her years, that when she does drop a consonant or two, I rarely reprove her, never when Dicky is present. He treasures every mis-pronunciation as a fleeting record of the babyhood which, all too soon, will slip away.

"Yes, you are right, we are," I told her. "But—you must always remember what the boys told you. Now, how would you like to hear the nice surprise?"

"The small nice one, or the big one?" she countered, I knew, purposely, with a tiny hope that I might let some clue slip to the big "surprise" which I had told her she would know later.

"The small one," I said firmly.

"I'd love it," she said.

"We're going to see Granzie at the hospital today," I said.

She leaped from her father's chair where she had been sitting.

"Oh, goody, goody. Oh, joy! Oh, rapture! Oh, frabjous day! Oh—"

Her voice ran down dolorously, and she faced me with a challenge:

"Then do I have to go to school?"

Children in High Glee as Santa Ushers in Holiday Season Here

By FRANCES HAAS

"Oh, look at Mickey Mouse!" "And there's Uncle Sam!" "Look! Here Comes Santa Claus!"

These and others were only a few of the many exclamations heard from the hundreds of children who gathered in downtown Marion Saturday afternoon to officially welcome Santa Claus to Marion and to witness the annual Christmas parade. The parade was staged through the cooperation of the Marion Chamber of Commerce.

Old Santa, the jolly old fellow who makes an appearance around this time each year, rode at the end of the four-block long parade, waving to the boys and girls from atop his big red and white float. Preceding him was Mrs. Santa Claus, who also waved to the children from her float of red and white, on the front of which was a large airplane in silver.

An estimated 11,000 persons, including hundreds of school and pre-school boys and girls, high school students and yes, hundreds of grownups, too, viewed the parade although a continual mist came down throughout the entire time the parade was being presented.

Get Points of Vantage

Very small children were hoisted onto their father's or some other relative's shoulder so that they could see Santa. Others were held in their parents arms, and still others got right out in front of the crowd so that Santa could see them and wave to them.

It having been intimated previously that Santa might arrive in Marion in an airplane, it was reported that a number of children had gone out to the Marion Airport hoping to greet Santa when he arrived.

Even a small dog, which appeared to be part Scotty and a little bit of everything else, was on hand for the parade, apparently looking for his master among the paraders, and also putting the crowd in an uproar. Each time a group of paraders went by, the dog would run out from the curb, sniff at each parader, and then return to his place at the curb. Incidentally, he was still at the curb in the same spot at the end of the parade.

When Santa's float pulled up at the courthouse after the parade, he was officially welcomed to the city by Mayor Harry L. Dowler, in a brief ceremony broadcast over Station WMRN. Mayor Dowler said in his talk "In behalf of the people of Marion, we are happy to have you here for the Christmas season which has been given us in memory of the birth of the Christ child." Santa Claus then gave a brief reply. Mayor Dowler was introduced by Robert T. Mason, president of the Marion Chamber of Commerce and the Marion Broadcasting Co.

Santa Greets Children

Following the ceremony, Santa Claus climbed down from his float to go into the courthouse to greet the hundreds of children who poured in after him. He received and talked to the children throughout the afternoon at his headquarters set up on the main floor.

According to present plans, Santa will be on hand at his headquarters until Christmas Monday to Saturday from 10 to 11 a. m. and 2 to 4 p. m. with the exception of Friday when the hours will be 2 to 4 and 7:30 to 8:30 p. m. He will not receive the children on the Thanksgiving holiday.

Order of the parade was as follows: police escort, P. L. Felder, marshal, Mayor Dowler, Mr. Mason and Harold Carroll, chairman of the retail board of managers, Chamber of Commerce, display of United Nations flags carried by Boy Scouts, the Caledonia High school band, float, Cardington High school band, float with several girls seated on a silver and green throne, Richwood High school band, float on which Mrs. Santa Claus rode, the Harding High school band and the Santa Claus float. The many characters of storybook fame were scattered throughout the parade.

Christmas music, including the popular Christmas song, "Jingle Bells," was played by the bands. The Caledonia band had sleigh bells to highlight their music.

The parade moved from just below Orchard street, east on Center to State street, south on State street to Church street, west on Church street to Main, and north on Main to the courthouse.

Every Funeral Is Considered Important

Because Hughes Funeral Service has a fine funeral home and far better than average equipment, some families may feel that their patronage would seem unimportant. Nothing could be further from the truth.

We have shipped 12 million dollars worth of locomotives to Poland . . . It seems that the Poles never have been able to run on time.

WOMEN OF THE MOOSE PLAN FUTURE ACTIVITIES

Plans were made for a card party in the hall Tuesday night and also to attend college of regent meetings at Galion Sunday and at Barberton, Nov. 30, at a meeting of Women of the Moose, Chapter No. 448, Tuesday night in the Moose hall. Gifts were contributed for Mooseheart and Moose Haven homes. One candidate was initiated.

Mrs. Mabel Barr presided as chairman for the chapter night observance by the college of regent. The program included selections by a quartet composed of Mrs. Frances Brown, Mrs. Isabel Hall, Mrs. Lillian Cook and Mrs. Ruth Weaver accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Thelma Luff, and a group of piano numbers by Mrs. Luff. An original poem was given by Mrs. Priscilla Connell and a talk on appreciation of the order by Mrs. Barr and Mrs. Maude Freeman completed the program. Mrs. Martha Harrod, Moose Haven chairman, will be in charge of the chapter night observance at a meeting Dec. 2.

The college of regent committee was in charge of a social hour. Miniature college caps were the place favors and the table was decorated in black and green the college of regent colors.

Marine Corps Changes Reserve Requirements

First Lieut. John W. Lawrence, U. S. Marine Corps, of Nevada, who is acting as a special representative of General A. A. Vandegrift, U. S. Marine Corps, announced today that new instructions have liberalized requirements for enrollment in the new, postwar, citizens' Marine Corps.

Previously only former Marines were eligible to belong to the Volunteer Reserve. Now, however, veterans from other branches of the armed forces, as well as young men without prior military service, age 17-32, may now apply for enrollment in the Volunteer Marine Corps Reserve. Membership for the Women's Reserve is still limited to those who have had previous service with the Marine Corps.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Eye Bleeding Often Indicates Trouble Elsewhere

Bleeding into the eye is important not only as a threat to vision, but because it often indicates disorders elswhere in the body which need immediate attention.

Various parts of the eye are subject to hemorrhages, and the seriousness of the bleeding usually depends on which part is affected. For example, an injury or blow to the eye may cause bleeding under the conjunctiva or lining membrane of the eyeball. The average patient is upset by this type of bleeding, but generally it is of little importance and clears up without treatment.

Sometimes, however, this type of bleeding occurs in older people without any apparent cause. In these cases it is important because it may indicate some weakness of the blood vessels, and calls for a careful examination to make sure that such patients are not suffering from hardening of the arteries, particularly the arteries which supply the retina or back part of the eyeball with blood.

A large hemorrhage into the eye may be caused by a blow or a fall on the head. In treating this condition, warm compresses are employed and, as a rule, the blood is absorbed in about two weeks.

Hemorrhages may occur into the lid located in the back part of the eyeball. If the hemorrhage is large enough, it may interfere with the eyesight. Such hemorrhages are usually painless. They may occur as a result of a fall, hardening of the arteries, or inflammation of the retina.

In adolescent or maturing boys, a type of bleeding into this part of the eye occurs from time to time. This disturbance tends to last many years. It is thought that it may be due to tuberculosis, but may also be caused by some disturbance of the glands of internal secretion, such as the thyroid gland in the neck or a pituitary gland at the base of the brain.

Rest is an important factor in the treatment. There are no special measures which seem to be of particular value.

Now and then, the artery which supplies the retina with blood, known as the central retinal artery, or a vein coming from this region, may be blocked by the formation of a clot. Together with this blocking of the blood vessels, there is a sudden loss of vision, the extent depending upon whether or not the main blood vessel is blocked, or one of its branches.

In many such cases, the eyesight can be saved by the use of such preparations as heparin or dicumarol, which slow down the clotting of the blood. Heat treatment or diathermy, which is an electrical treatment to produce heat deep in the tissues, is also helpful.

Bleeding into the eye may also occur in conditions which affect the blood itself, such as anemia, or lessening of the coloring of the blood, leukemia, in which there is a great increase in the number of white blood cells, and purpura, in which there is bleeding due to changes in the composition of the blood. Of course, in such instances, treatment consists in relieving the disorder producing the hemorrhage.

Questions and Answers

G. T.: What causes black circles under my eyes?

Answer: Circles under the eyes are usually caused by what is known as unbalancing of the water absorption and output. It has no particular significance from the standpoint of health. However, these circles sometimes come from lack of rest and sleep.

Nothing is more clear than that the Republicans will not go the whole way with the President's proposals. Yet this compromise suggestion would seem well worth pondering by the Republican moderates. For behind all the political fury which the President's bombshell has aroused the ominous price problem still exists. It must be dealt with by more effective means than furious denunciation of the President's political motives.

Marion County Cagers Open Loop Season Tomorrow Night

By DON C. BURTON

The Marion county league will open the net season tomorrow night with a program of five games with a sixth being contested Wednesday night.

Coach Thurman Wright's rangy crew of Caledonians—with three regulars returning from last year's team which tied with Claridon for the league title and then won the tournament at the end of the schedule—will be the favorites again to cop the bunting.

Caledonia will entertain a small LaRue team handicapped at the start of the season with injuries to two regulars, Ralph Wilson and Burke Ballinger. Ballinger took the cast off a broken ankle only Friday and will not be ready for action for another three weeks. Wilson, in addition to an injured ankle received in football has been absent from practice for 10 days due to illness and is not likely to play in the league opener.

Gene Fleming Returned

The Donians have Gene Fleming, giant center and All-County member returning, along with a high-scoring forward Kenneth Comstock and guard John Robinson. Wright will get plenty of replacements for his two boys lost by graduation, Eugene Freet and John Rodgers, in several boys from a group that won the county junior high title in March.

In other games Martel will travel to Kirkpatrick for the lid lifter with Coach Lust's team which suffered the loss of star shooter Jim Frank by graduation last spring. Kirk still has a great offensive performer in Jones and a close game is expected from the two quintets.

New Bloomington Small

New Bloomington, with a small team that failed to win a game last year, will travel to Morral for the loop opener. Coach Norman Weston of Morral still has several of his boys from last year, including regulars McCumber and Weston.

Green Camp, who lost all five of the starting members of last year's fourth place team, will entertain Prospect for the opening tomorrow night. Coach Roettger has several boys from a good reserve team last year. Prospect, with a new coach, is an unknown quantity and may upset the dope with several boys returning from last year.

Meeker, with most of the first 10 boys from last year's improved team returning for duty, is expected to be strong in the opener at Waldo. The down county team lost heavily by graduation last year and very little is known about this year's prospects.

Pleasant at Claridon

In what is always an exciting battle Pleasant will travel to Claridon for the opener, postponed to Wednesday because the Claridon gym is being used tomorrow night for a Grange meeting. Pleasant has several regulars left from last year's snappy third place team and will be the favorites in the game, as Claridon has lost heavily by graduation. Dale Irey, forward, and Bob Pickett, a guard, are back with the Claridon team. The returning regulars in the Pleasant lineup include Charles Mayers, twice All-County selection and Tom Green, clever playmaker, along with several others.

BUCKEYES TO CHOOSE 1948 GRID CAPTAIN

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 24—The final chapter in Ohio State university's far-from-happy 1947 football season will be written tonight as members of the Buckeye varsity select next year's captain at the annual appreciation banquet.

By custom, the Scarlet and Gray captain is a senior, and the list of 1948 "eligibles" for the honor include such as Ray Diplerro, Alex Verdova, Howard Teifke, Chuck Fazio, Joe Whisler, Bob Brugge, Dean Sensanbaugher, Ollie Cline, Chuck Renner and Mike Cannavino.

Guard Bob Jabbusch, one of four seniors on this fall's varsity, was captain this season. Members of the varsity will ballot before the dinner tonight and Jabbusch will make known their choice by tapping his successor on the shoulder at the end of the dinner festivities.

Before the 1948 captain is made known, however, Dr. Earl W. Anderson, the newly-elected chairman of the athletic board, will hand out varsity letters and awards to junior varsity and freshmen players, the Ohio State Journal quarterback club will present a trophy to the sophomore who made the "biggest strides" as a first-year player and Dr. Howard L. Bevis, university president; Athletic Director Richard C. Larkins and Head Coach Wes Fesler will speak.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 24—Michigan's mighty Wolverines today landed four players, including three backs, on the 1947 Associated Press All-Big Nine football team selected annually by the conference coaches.

Paying high tribute to the Big Nine champion, the league's mentors gave Michigan a domination seldom achieved on the honor roll. They chose Bob Chappuis, Chalmers (Bump) Elliott and Howard Yerges for the high-geared backfield and placed pass-catching, end-running Bob Mann at an end position.

Three berths on the All Star lineup went to Illinois and one each to Indiana, Wisconsin, Purdue and Minnesota. Iowa, Ohio State and Northwestern failed to capture a position on either the first or second teams.

Russ Steger, workhorse fullback for Illinois, rounds out the No. 1 backfield which goes with a line bulwarked by ends Mann and Ike Owens of Illinois; tackles Phil O'Reilly of Purdue and Lou Agase of Illinois; guards Howard Brown of Indiana and Leo Nomellini of Minnesota and center Bob Wilson of Wisconsin.

There were no unanimous choices, but three players—Nomellini, Chappuis and Elliott—received eight first team votes to gather 16 out of a possible 18 points in the balloting.

Quarterback Yerges, unheralded field general and ball-handler of Michigan's magical attack, and the pile-driving consistent Steger bagged 12 points apiece. Tackle O'Reilly received 13 and guard Nomellini 14. Owens, rated one of the greatest defensive ends in the country, and flanker Mann collected 11 points apiece, the former being named as a first selection by five coaches.

Only "darkhorse" selection among the linemen was the Gophers' 238-pound Nomellini from Chicago.

Closest race in the poll was between the Badgers' Wilson, an excellent line-backer, and Illinois' brilliant-tackling Lou Levanti for the center berth. Wilson barely won out.

Only holdover from the 1946 all-conference team was halfback Chappuis.

Steger was swept into the fullback position with a six point edge over Michigan's other backfield ace, Jack Weisenburger.

St. Louis Cardinals Bought By Hannegan and Movie Men

By BILL CORUM

Copyright 1947 by International News Service

NEW YORK, Nov. 24—If you would like to address a letter to Postmaster General Robert E. Hannegan just send it to the "President of the St. Louis Cardinals, St. Louis, Mo."

Hannegan, a member of President Truman's cabinet and the man most responsible for his being president; the Skouras brothers of motion picture fame; Sidney Saloman Jr. of St. Louis, and one or two other St. Louisans have purchased the Cardinals and their affiliated clubs for $3,500,000 from owner Sam Breadon.

The deal, which has been on and off the fire since last summer, was to have been announced in St. Louis tomorrow.

Money-wise, it is the biggest deal in baseball history, the price exceeding what was paid for the N. Y. Yankees by almost a million dollars.

Hannegan is a native of St. Louis. He was a football star of St. Louis university and has been a lifelong fan of the two St. Louis teams. Until he resigned, a fortnight ago, he was on the board of directors of the Browns.

Bob is really Breadon's hand-picked successor. For years they were next door neighbors in St. Louis and always have been intimate friends.

As a matter of fact, this sale of one of baseball's most important and successful properties—it comprises not only the Cards but a dozen class AAA and minor league clubs, including Rochester, N. Y., Columbus, O., and Houston, Tex., which have their own parks—originated when Sam made a call on his 70th birthday to Hannegan in Washington.

The St. Louis owner went on to say that at 70 a fellow couldn't count on 70 more years and that he had no male heir to whom to leave his baseball holdings.

"I have seen too often that leaving ball teams to women won't work," he went on to say, "and I don't know anybody that I'd like to see take over the Cardinals as much as you."

O.W.U. Cross Country Champ Defends Title in Meet Today

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, Nov. 24—Ohio Wesleyan university's Olympic candidate, distance runner Quentin Brelsford, will defend his title as National Collegiate Cross Country champion in an NCAA meet today in his home town at East Lansing, Mich.

Last year Brelsford defeated 200 entrants in the East Lansing meet to win the championship in 20 minutes 22.9 seconds, a time ten seconds away from the all-time record set by Greg Rice of Notre Dame in 1938.

QUENTIN BRELSFORD
Defends Title Today

Brelsford hopes to improve his time today and has a good chance to do so. His cross-country times this season are better than last year's and he expects to be wiser today. Last year he ate just before the match and ran the race with a stomach cramp.

The meet today will provide Brelsford some of the stiffest competition in his career and he thrives on competition.

A win will give him an undefeated record in college cross-country running as well as give a boost to his Olympic hopes.

Brelsford led the O.W.U. cross-country runners to their twelfth straight win in Ohio competition Thursday as they stopped Oberlin, 25-32. With Brelsford setting the pace, Bishop harriers have lost only one match in two years—that to Michigan State Normal earlier this season.

Quent's career at Wesleyan has been one of the highlights of the O. W. U. track and cross country history. As a freshman he set a new college record for the half mile, plus tying with another runner in setting a new college record for the quarter mile. When the Army claimed Brelsford he still kept his hand in the running field by participating in races in Sicily and in the Allied track and field meet.

Brelsford's return to Wesleyan marked his rise to championship fame. He was the champion miler in Ohio for two years and the champion two miler in the Ohio A. A. U. meets in 1945-46. The highlight of his 1946 season was the winning of the NCAA race.

Wants Jack Dempsey For Garden Boxing Promoter

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 24 — Emil Lustig, president of a nationwide chain of men's hat stores, was reported to be organizing a syndicate to purchase a controlling interest in Madison Square Garden so that Jack Dempsey might be installed as boxing promoter at the punch emporium.

Dempsey is sports director for the hat company at a salary believed to be $50,000 a year.

Should Lustig and associates control the Garden corporation, they would be able not only to put Dempsey at the Garden helm but also to recapture the radio rights the hat company once owned, and to move in on Garden television.

Michigan, Southern Cal Clinch Rose Bowl Positions Saturday

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 24—Except for all-conquering Notre Dam and once-tied Pennsylvania, five of the nation's seven undefeate major college football teams today were either bowl-bound or wer awaiting "feelers" to participate in post-season clashes.

Three of these elite elevens, Michigan and Southern Methodist, each with a spotless slate, and once-tied Southern California already were "in" no matter what happened from here on in. The other two, unscathed Penn State and once-deadlocked Kansas, haven't received any definite offers but both were reported being under consideration for appearances in bowl games.

No Bowl for Irish

Undefeated Notre Dame already has announced its antipathy toward any post season games as has once-tied Penn. Each still has one game to play on its regular schedule, the Irish meeting Southern California in a decisive game Dec. 6, and the Quakers engaging Cornell in a traditional Thanksgiving day game.

No matter what the outcome of the Notre Dame-U.S.C. game a week from Saturday, the Trojans will face Michigan in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif., New Year's day. Saturday's 6-0 win over U.C.L.A. insured it for the Trojans. The Wolverines clinched their entry last week when they swamped Wisconsin for the Big Nine title. The 21- triumph over Ohio State had n bearing.

Southern Methodist, the last teams, is a certainly to be t host team in the Cotton Bow at Dallas, Tex., Jan. 1. The Co ton Bowl takes the Southwe conference champion as host tea S.M.U. has not yet clinched t title but can do so by beati Texas Christian next Saturday

Penn State in Cotton Bowl?

Although Jordan C. Ownb president of the Cotton Bowl At letic association, has stated th the guest team has not been d cided as yet, it is felt that Pen State would get the nod. Pen State concluded its first unde feated, untied season since 191 Saturday by walloping Pitt burgh 29-0.

DENISON JUBILANT OVER CLEAN SWEEP

Big Red Ends Season Unbeaten with Wittenberg Win.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 24 — There was quite a bit of jubilation at Granville today where Denison university had its first "clean" football season in 58 years, the state-wide and Ohio conference championships, the Conference scoring laurels, and an extra day off from studies for Thanksgiving.

The Big Red wrapped up that package Saturday by subduing a stubborn Wittenberg team 12-6 for its ninth straight win of the season, adding the Lutherans to Rio Grande, Washington and Jefferson, Beloit, Wooster, Oberlin, Muskingum, Capital and Ohio Wesleyan it its "victim" column.

Wilberforce State's once-beaten jinx had a deadlock on the state-wide scoring title with 321 for nine games, and had a chance to boost its edge in a Turkey Day tilt with Bergen College in New York, but Denison was second with 274, a point ahead of Findlay's 10-game mark of 273.

Denison won six straight to take the Ohio conference crown, scoring 167 points to top the loop by a single point over John Carroll which won five and lost one with 166 points.

Halfbacks Gerald Gaynor of Toledo and Edward Rupp of Granville were the Big Red scoring aces, each getting eight touchdowns, but 16 players took part in the Denison scoring, a dozen counting touchdowns.

The 39 Buckeye colleges close the campaign Thursday with five games, headlined by the traditional Turkey Day clashes between Miami and Cincinnati in the Queen City, and Case-Western Reserve at Cleveland. Also on the slate are the interracial event between Wilberforce State and Bergen, St. Francis of Pennsylania at Steubenville and the Wright Field Kittyhawk game with Rio Grande at Gallipolis.

Ohio Wesleyan, originally booked to meet Rollins at Winter Park, Fla., next Saturday, ran into a cancellation on the part of the southern school and has taked away its uniforms. The cancellation came after Wesleyan had refused to eliminate a Negro player from its roster for the Florida game.

Snatches of Sports

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 24 — One thing some of the Green Bay Packers can't understand (besides how they can manage to look good and still lose one-point decisions) is why college scouts don't jam the stands to spy on their defense against the "T" formation . . . Coach Curley Lambeau has come up with a new setup that has been most effective against the "T" but he won't tell anyone all the details . . . Ed Cody, the Packer fullback, figures he should be a buddy of Jack "Lucky" Lohrke. When Ed was at Boston college he passed up a visit to Cocoanut Grove the night of the tragic fire there. Later he was watching a basketball game at Purdue when he decided to go out for a smoke. He had just stepped off the bleachers when they collapsed disastrously.

SAM FRANCIS, Kansas State grid coach, claims he really dreamed up a play to score on the powerful Oklahoma team . . . Sam says the Friday before the game he dreamed that halfback Harold Bryan, instead of running behind Clarence Branch's blocking on a double flanker play, forward passed to Branch for a touchdown . . . On Saturday, Francis told the players and suggested they try it . . . They did and it worked just the way the coach had dreamed, for 45 yards and a TD . . . On the bench, the boys insisted, "Hurry up, coach, and have a couple more quick dreams. We want to win this game."

CLEVELAND BROWNS TIE YANKEES 28-28

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 24 — The Cleveland Browns, defending All-America Football Conference champions, apparently will be the only eleven in their circuit or the rival National Football league that will enter the 1947 championship playoffs well rested.

While the Browns, who nailed down the A. A. C.'s western division flag a week ago are taking things easy, the title races in the conference's eastern half and in both sections of the National league are far from over.

The New York Yankees, who battled the Browns for the conference crown last year, currently pace the eastern half by a game while over in the National league, the Pittsburgh Steelers enjoy a half-game edge in the eastern title battle and the Chicago Cardinals and the Chicago Bears are deadlocked for the western half lead.

Before 70,060 fans yesterday, the Browns came from behind a 28-0 deficit and tied the Yanks, 28-28 with Otto Graham leading the way.

Graham established a conference passing record by gaining 325 yards on 15 completions in 28 attempts. The previous mark of 294 was set by George Ratterman of the Buffalo Bills.

Spec Sanders led the Yankee assault by scoring three touchdowns. The three six-pointers raised Sanders' total points to 96, a new conference record.

The crowd was the second largest ever to see a pro game in New York. On Dec. 6, 1925, 75,000 fans saw Red Grange and the Bears beat the Giants in the Polo grounds.

Midget LaRue Cagers Lose to Marseilles

Special to The Star

LARUE, Nov. 24—A midget size LaRue team lost to a tall Marseille outfit here Saturday night, 44-35, when the Wyandot county lads rallied in the final quarter to grab the lead for the first time during the torrid contest. Parsell, six feet four inch center of Marseilles, had too much height for the LaRue boys and scored 25 points, chiefly on rebounds.

Three LaRue players, Harold Brocklesby, John Tate and Marion Lightfoot fouled out and then the visitors piled in the points, getting 20 in the last stanza. LaRue led at halftime, 18-15.

Jack Millisor and Joe Fletcher, two small forwards led the LaRue scoring with 11 points each.

The LaRue reserves won a thriller from the Marseilles seconds, 22-20.

New York Stock Quotations

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 24—Modest improvement was recorded for scattered stocks today but numerous leaders did nothing or edged into slightly lower territory.

Selling for income tax purposes persisted as a brake on some issues while switching operations aided other. Both professionals and brokerage customers leaned toward caution pending outcome of the foreign ministers' meeting in London and congressional developments. Further good dividends and earnings still were more or less ignored.

Dealings slowed after a fairly active start. The direction was notably cloudy near midday with price variations mostly in fractions.

Occasional gainers included U. S. Steel, General Motors, United Aircraft, American Water Workers, Southern Pacific, Great Northern Railway, American Woolen, Air Reduction and Johns-Manville. Intermittent stumblers were Goodyear, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Oliver Corp., American Telephone, Kennecott, General Electric, Southern Railway and Standard Oil (NJ).

Receipts 785 Head At Ashley Lamb Pool

Seven hundred and eighty-five sheep and lambs were consigned for sale at the seventh pool of the Delaware - Morrow - Marion Sheep Improvement association at the Ashley Stock Yards last week.

This is the largest number of lambs consigned at any pool so far this year. The quality of the lambs sent to market also was high.

Thirty-eight farmers from the tri-county area made these consignments which graded 68 double blue, 69 blue, 163 red and 262 yellow.

Probably one of the finest consignments of lambs made so far at the Ashley pool was made Thursday by Kenneth Mosier of Morrow county who brought in 69 head and 54 graded double blue and 15 blue or top grade.

The 54 double blue lambs were clipped Sept. 6 and weighed 5260 pounds or 97½ pounds average. These lambs were born in April and weaned in August and were kept on good improved pasture all summer. After weaning they were on alfalfa and red clover mixed pasture with shelled corn and supplement fed twice daily. All Mr. Mosier's sheep including the lambs were treated several times for parasites during the summer.

More clipped lambs are coming to the pool and show good quality and a high gain.

The prices paid at the Thursday pool were clipped double blue $24, blue $22, red $21 and yellow $20. Wool double blue $24.50, blue $23.50, red $22.50 and yellow $21.50.
